The Return of the Monsters!

Monarch Models Revives Original Design Kits

Scott McKillop, an avid modeler, has relaunched the Monarch Models line of monster and sci-fi kits to fill the void left by Aurora and other model lines leaving the market.

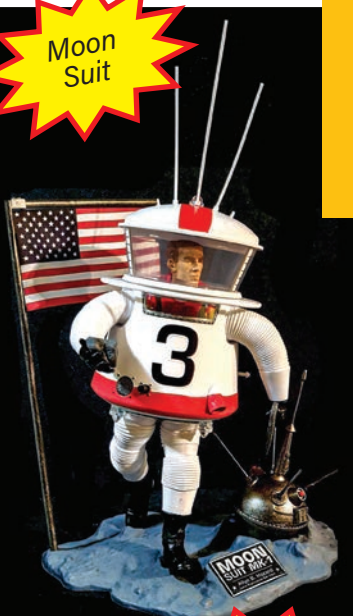

Monarch first hit the shelves in 2007 but ceased production a few years ago. Now, Monarch is back!

The 100% original designs are finely crafted, precision kits much sought after by modelers and collectors. Each one is a limited edition – once it's gone, it's gone. Exclusivity keeps prices at full retail, and kits won't have to be marked down to clear inventory off the shelves.

Digital design and sculpting tools mean faster, more flexible design and production. Changes can be made in a matter of hours instead of weeks, so the models feature refined sculpting. New limited edition models will be produced faster than ever before.

Get Monarch Models from the major model distributors. McKillop is seeking additional distributors in the U.S. and Canada.
